LOCATED in Oxford's most popular spot, Jericho, are two beautiful properties that are perfectly suited to family life.

These impressive houses are ideal for those who are into all that the area offers, with the latest food trends, fashion and art.

Each home has its own individual style, combining stand-out architecture with the space and practicality that a family demands.

This is a great area for schools too, with the city's top education establishments nearby in the city centre, Summertown and Headington.

Available in Walton Crescent, Jericho, is a lovely Victorian townhouse which extends to four newly decorated floors at £2,750pcm. Families will love the brand new kitchen, three double bedrooms and bathroom complete with tub and separate shower, double aspect living/dining room area for family gatherings and low-maintenance garden.

This home is conveniently located for the Oxford University departments, amenities and, of course, excellent restaurants and bars.

Located in Southmoor Road, Walton Manor, is a beautiful and impressive family home with lovely gardens leading on to the canal. The property has a wealth of period features such as a fireplace and sash windows and exudes character and charm. All the modern conveniences are included with five double bedrooms plus an additional study/bedroom, three beautifully fitted bathrooms, two reception rooms with wood floors and log-burners and a kitchen with dining area. Rent is £9,000pcm.
