PETS are not always welcome in rental properties but an Oxford agent was impressed to receive a detailed application from a would-be canine tenant.

Finders Keepers says a couple interested in renting an East Oxford house submitted a detailed CV for their miniature Schnauzer named Hercule, including a reference from his previous landlord.

It described his best tricks as “standing on his hind legs and walking round in a circle”.

Two more four-bedroom homes in Oxford whose landlords will consider pets have large gardens and easy access to rail stations.

The first is in Abbey Road, off Botley Road. The extended home is set over three floors.

All bedrooms are doubles and there are two bathrooms.

The house includes open-plan kitchen/dining room with an island and folding doors to the garden, plus a living room with feature fireplace.

The garden has access to the Thames towpath and is a short walk from the new Waitrose and Oxford rail station.

Number 17, Abbey Road is available to let, unfurnished from December 1 at £2,250 per month through Finders Keepers. Call 01865 297999.

The second property is in Blandford Avenue, off Sunderland Avenue.

The house has two newly-fitted en-suite showers and a family bathroom. There is an open-plan style kitchen/breakfast room and separate dining room.

There is a larger-than-average and secure back garden. It is within the catchment areas for Cherwell School and a short drive from the new Oxford Parkway station.

Number 25 Blandford Avenue is available to let unfurnished at £3,995 per month. Call 01865 311011 or visit finders.co.uk.
