

LETTINGS

Thursday, April 16, 2015

This Georgian townhouse overlooks the Castle Mill stream in the centre of Oxford

This home in Stratton Audley, near Bicester, is set next to a mill race

The race is on to rent stylish homes near mill streams

By Gill Oliver
goliver@nqo.com

TWO properties to let are connected by the fact that they both overlook a mill stream.

But one is in Oxford city centre, while the other is in a sleepy village near Bicester.

For those who enjoy urban life, agents Finders Keepers have a Georgian townhouse overlooking Castle Mill stream in the centre of Oxford.

The property has plenty of character and is available on a year's lease, until the end of June, 2016.

Set over three floors, it includes two double bedrooms and two studies plus a bathroom and a shower room on the upper floors.

There is also a sitting room and separate kitchen/breakfast room on the ground floor. The kitchen includes a door to the back, west-facing cottage-style garden and the sitting room has an open fireplace and large windows.

Close to the city's theatres, restaurants and shops and agents say the property might suit a professional couple.

Other highlights include one on-street permit parking space.

The house, in Lower Fisher Row, is available to let, furnished, at £1,850 per month.

For those who prefer to be in a rural setting, Finders Keepers also has a large family home in Stratton Audley which is also set on a mill stream.

The detached mill house, which has views over surrounding countryside, has five bedrooms and three bathrooms.

It comes with good-sized gardens and tenants may also be able to use a nearby paddock, by negotiation. The large kitchen/breakfast room has a feature picture window to make the most of the views and there are four reception rooms, including a drawing room which overlooks the mill race.

The house is three miles from Bicester North station, which offers access to London's Marylebone station.

The house is available to let, unfurnished, from June, at £3,250 per month.

FACT FILE

Lower Fisher Row, Oxford
£1,850 per month
Finders Keepers
01865 297999
Stratton Audley, near Bicester
£3,250 per month
Finders Keepers
01869 329530
www.finders.co.uk